

TRAFFIC CALMING CHURCH ROAD

Church Rd is arguably still a country lane, so speed cushions might have a greater impact here. The black marks indicate possible positions for speed control cushions along Church Road.

There are a number of crossing points – either side of the Walson Way roundabout, at the chicanes and the Twitchell linking with Manor Road, so speed control points need to be close to these.

Finally, a raised platform, opposite the southbound access to the station, needs to be here to allow safe crossing for commuters. The black markings show potential speed control cushion locations.
